REBELS RAIN DEATH ON PLAZA CROWD

TRANSFUSION TO SAVE HER IS FUTILE

Victim Sobs Out Story Of Attack Before She Succumbs

CHICAGO. (AP)—Four suspects were taken into custody today by police seeking a "short, fat white man" described as the moron who slashed the throat of 5-year-old Antoinette Tritilli and left her dying on a school playground yesterday.

Two boys and a girl, schoolmates of the slain girl, reported they were accosted by a man in the neighborhood of the school about two hours before Antoinette was found.

One was said to resemble the description given by the victim before she died, three hours after she was found moaning in the school yard.

Roundup Ordered

Police were under orders to arrest every known moron and child amovier in the west side area.

The inquest was continued to Dec. 1 after the father, the only witness, told the girl's life story.

"I saw her last about 7 o'clock last night," he said. "She pleaded with her mother to let her go out and play some more. About 10 minutes later two young men carried her into the house in that terrible condition."

A hasty transfusion of blood from her mother proved futile and the little girl died in a hospital last night.

Victim Tells Story

Antoinette, almost incoherent from fright and pain, was unable in a short period of consciousness to give a good description of the slayer.

"I was playing in the school yard when he came up and grabbed my hand and offered to get me some candy," she sobbed. "I was afraid and tried to get away, but he pulled me around to the back of the school. He swore at me and took out a knife. He screamed and he hit me across the neck with the knife and ran away and left me on the ground."

FISHING BOAT HIT BY FIRE

Ray Kimball, Newport Beach, and his 45-foot fishing boat "Flyer" both suffered slight damages yesterday in the second waterfront fire at Newport Beach within a week.

Kimball, working in the engine room of the craft, found his clothing ablaze when a light bulb burst igniting gasoline. His hair and eyebrows severely singed and his overalls afire, Kimball rushed ashore and beat out the flames. His hands were burned slightly.

In the meantime other workers exhausted 12 fire extinguishers on the flaming boat, and a call was sent for aid from the Newport Beach fire department. The firemen finished subduing the flames. The fishing boat, valued at $4000, was tied up at McIntee's Marine Service station, on the bay front near the city yards. Damage was estimated at about $25 by Fire Chief Frank Crocker.

Find Bound Man's Body in Bay

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Bound with heavy wire and gagged, the body of an unidentified man was found floating in San Francisco bay.

Picks Wrong Courtroom

John Ackerman, business manager of the Santa Ana Independent, yesterday lost his suit to force Nat H. Neff, county highway superintendent, to reveal results of road oil tests. He lost because he was sitting in the wrong courtroom.

While Ackerman sat in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court waiting for the case to be called, Superior Judge H. G. Ames called it in another courtroom. Neff was there, and so was District Attorney W. F. Menton. Judge Ames dismissed Ackerman's petition for a writ of mandamus.

Hundreds Refuse Jobs in Order to Stay on Relief

Hanson's Dream City Blasted

A romantic dream that had its beginning 11 years ago on the southernmost tip of Orange county's shores, had its unromantic ending yesterday in a superior courtroom. Ole Hanson's vision of a Spanish village clinging to the cliffs above the Pacific was changed to a vista (sometime in the future) of a modern beach city similar to many others in the Southland.

STRIKERS IN NEW THREAT

Bridges Demands Some Quick Action On West Coast

(By the Associated Press)

An airplane was used to picket an incoming liner at New York today and maritime strike leaders in San Francisco and Philadelphia declared they would take new action against employers unless the walkout is settled soon.

Charting a plane, striking seamen took off from Floyd Bennett field in Brooklyn and dropped leaflets on the liner Washington, urging the crew to join the strikers.

A motor launch cruised beside the liner and pickets exhorted the crew through a loudspeaker.

Bridges Makes Threat

Harry Bridges, militant longshore leader at San Francisco, declared "We are going to have to protect ourselves unless the shipowners do something pretty soon."

"We understand that West coast shipowners are prepared to hold out for some time, perhaps two or three months," Bridges told San Francisco Labor council delegates. "If the ship lines dependent on subsidies don't do something pretty soon, we are going to do something."

The newly formed San Francisco Shipping Merchants association, comprising firms which are customers of the strike-bound shipping lines, issued a public appeal for immediate settlement of the strike.

The association said the strike was causing a $7,000,000 daily loss on the Pacific coast, where it began with the walkout of 37,000 maritime workers on Oct. 30 after negotiations with shipowners on "fundamental demands" became deadlocked.

THREE RANCHES BRING $65,000

Sale of 110 acres of bean land in the Bolsa district for approximately $65,000, was announced today. The deal involved three separate parcels, all of which were purchased by Robert E. Burns, Los Angeles capitalist, formerly connected with the E. F. Hutton Bond company.

The deal was handled through Ed Farnsworth, Santa Ana real estate dealer. The transaction transferred to Burns the 60-acre ranch of Maurice Price, 30-acre property of Ralph Ross and a 20-acre holding which belonged to Stanley Clem and the Osterkamp brothers. Clem and his family recently moved to Arizona.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel yesterday knocked out San Clemente's eight-year-old ordinance which restricted all building in the Spanish village to that closely resembling the architecture of old Spain.

The judicial ruling stipulated that police power granted cities by the state constitution did not extend to purely aesthetic matters.

Restrictions Lifted

Judge Scovel ruled that the color of walls and ceilings employed in San Clemente architecture had nothing to do with San Clemente's health, safety or morals. And there went Ole Hanson's dream. They can build any kind of houses they want to in San Clemente now.

Hanson, of course, is no longer (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

S. A. SOCIETY LEADER DIES

A prominent social leader and gentleman was lost to Santa Ana today with the death of Mrs. Charlie Louise Montgomery who, at the age of 75, died today at her home, 1418 North Main street, after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Montgomery was the widow of the late Victor Montgomery, who died here in 1911 after an illustrious career at the California bar.

The former Miss Charlie Louise Tarver of Washington county, Texas, Mrs. Montgomery had lived in Santa Ana for 40 years. She was a charter member of the Santa Ana Valley Elbel club, and held the office of president in that organization for three terms. She was an ardent member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and served as president of the California division, as well as active president for 15 years of the Emma Sanford chapter of Santa Ana, which she organized. She also was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Montgomery is survived by two daughters, Miss Louise and Miss Gertrude Montgomery; a son, Tarver Montgomery, and a cousin, Ben Tarver, all of Santa Ana, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Ella Coons of Anaheim. Funeral services will be announced later by Winbiger's mortuary.

Tug Sinks With All Hands Aboard

ROGERS CITY, Mich. (AP)—Coast guardsmen searched today for trace of a vessel they believed to have been the 70-foot tug Frederick A. Lee, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., which sank mysteriously in Lake Huron late yesterday, apparently with all hands. Although no identifying wreckage was found at the scene, coast guardsmen said all indications pointed to the Lee, which left Sarnia, Ont., Thursday afternoon with five men aboard, as the identity of the vessel.

Dynamite Truck Crashes; No Blast

DUBOIS, Pa. (AP)—Ferris Millard said he experienced the most exciting moments of his 34 years today as his truck carrying 102 boxes of dynamite, weighing 50 pounds each, overturned on the highway two miles east of Dubois. The dynamite spilled out but there was no explosion and Millard was unhurt.

TORONTO MAYOR DIES
TORONTO (Canadian Press)—Samuel McBride, Toronto's 70-year-old mayor, died today.

AGENCIES NOT FORCING MEN TO WORK

Only Single Men Given Orders To Take Up Imperial Offer

Thousands of agricultural jobs are offered in Imperial Valley and around Phoenix; hundreds of Orange county agricultural laborers are returning to relief rolls; but few will go from here to the proffered work.

Charles Fallert, director of the National Reemployment service here, reported today he has requisitions from other NRS offices for 1000 workers in Imperial valley and 500 for Phoenix.

But on the basis of past experience, WPA isn't going to require the men who are married or have dependents to go to the valley, and SR is going to require an investigation of the labor needs and conditions before urging local laborers to go.

Crops Early

Faber Bray, labor division manager of WPA, said the requisition represents the total wants of Imperial valley agricultural interests and not the number wanted from this county.

The labor shortage, he said, is because crops are two weeks ahead of normal, and because the migratory Mexican labor on which the Imperial valley depends is finishing up the hop season around Fresno and Sacramento.

In a short time, he said, the labor order will be filled automatically by the return of the regular Mexican workers. Men not experienced at carrot pulling, lettuce thinning, and cotton picking would not be able to make living wages, he said.

Fifty Take Jobs

If any number of Orange county agricultural workers left here for the valley and remained for the entire season, they would create a desperate labor shortage (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

DENY HOEPEL PERSECUTION

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Assistant District Attorney John V. Cogbill and Sheriff T. Wilson Seay of Henrico county today denied Rep. John H. Hoeppel's assertions he had been held incommunicado since his arrest here Nov. 7 on federal charges.

The California congressman and his son, Charles W. Hoeppel, are under sentence in Washington for conspiring to sell an appointment to West Point. Arrested here as fugitives, they have fought extradition.

Hoeppel, in letters to the Richmond News-Leader and the New York Times, said he was being "politically persecuted" and had been held incommunicado in the Henrico (Richmond) county jail. The Hoeppel case will be resumed in federal district court here Thursday when a hearing on their bondsman's petition for custody will be argued.

Frost Warnings Begin Sunday

Floyd D. Young, senior meteorologist of the United States weather bureau, will open his annual frost warning service tomorrow at 8 p. m. over radio KNX. Speaking from Pomona, Young each night will give his low temperature predictions for points in Orange county and Southern California.

Crash in Which Santa Ana Woman Was Injured

Here is the result of a terrific head-on collision Wednesday between a heavily loaded Los Angeles-San Francisco bus and a 12-ton truck on a steep grade near San Luis Obispo that killed the bus driver and two women passengers and injured 31 other persons, including Mrs. B. J. Chandler of Santa Ana. The big stage was thrown over on its side and crumpled for more than half its length. At right is the wrecked truck. It took several hours to remove the injured and dead from the wreckage. (Associated Press Photo)

PAY INCREASE ENDS STRIKE

Warehouse Walkout Is Over; Wages Boosted All Over Nation

CHICAGO. (AP)—To a fresh flood of income for workmen in various parts of the nation was added today a wage boost of seven and a half cents an hour to warehousemen on the West coast. Their strike against San Francisco and Oakland grocery wholesalers was ended last night with an agreement whereby their pay was raised from 22½ cents to 30 cents an hour. The announcement came in the wake of dozens of other upward revisions in compensation of workers employed by firms representing a cross-cut of American business and industry.

The Packard Motor Car Company announced at Detroit yesterday increases of five cents an hour for 10,579 hourly wage employees and $10 a month for 511 salaried workers receiving less than $200 a month. The aggregate payroll increase, said President Alvan Macauley, would be $1,250,000 a year.

At Richmond, Va., the Du Pont Rayon Company raised wages 7 to 10 per cent yesterday for 3000 employees and similar increases totaling an unofficially estimated $425,000. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

L. A. AUTO SHOW OPENED TODAY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Los Angeles motorcar dealers unveiled their 1937 style wares in the city's twenty-fourth auto show today, setting aside space for a major exhibit of trailers.

Products of 25 American factories and several in foreign countries occupied 150,000 square feet of floor space in Pan-Pacific auditorium. Dealers spent $12,000 for lavish drapes and gleaming gold stars to furnish the right atmosphere in the big show place for 250 machines. The show closes in nine days.

Strike Halts Milk Delivery

OAKLAND. (AP)—Milk deliveries in Oakland and surrounding cities were halted today by a strike and sympathetic action on the part of other union workmen. Paul J. St. Sure, attorney for the Alameda County Milk Dealers' Association, said the tieup affected about 20 distributors throughout the area.

SCHOOL PAPER WINS PRIZES

Willard Echo Has Best Editorial And Sports Page In Its Class

The Willard Echo, newspaper of Frances Willard Junior High school of Santa Ana, received two awards at the annual convention of the Southern California High School Press association, held this year at Santa Maria, it was learned today.

First prize for the best junior high school editorial was won by the local paper, as well as the award for putting out the best sports page of the year.

The only other junior high prize winner was the Compton Junior High News, which was judged to have the best front page.

High school editorial awards went to Burbank High school in Class A, Santa Barbara High school in Class B, and Franklin High school, Los Angeles, in Class C.

Tom Ludwig, San Diego High school, took first place for the best feature story.

HARPO WEDDING WAS IN S. A.

When Harpo Marx, taciturn member of the celebrated four Marx Brothers, admitted his marriage a short while ago to a New York society girl, he refused to tell reporters where it took place. The secret was out today as an examination of records in the Orange county marriage bureau revealed that a license had been issued on Sept. 28 to an Adolph Marx and a Miss Elva Fleming of New York.

Marx told society reporters in Los Angeles that he had been married around Sept. 28, "somewhere in California." He gave his name at that time as Arthur Marx and his bride's name as Susan Fleming. In all other particulars, the marriage license issued here conforms to biographical facts about Marx and his bride.

BOMBS SLAY 53, WOUND 150 MORE

Defense Chief, In Fury, Orders Big Fascist Army Wiped Out

MADRID. (AP)—Insurgent bombers, unloading high explosives into a thronged Madrid plaza, killed an estimated 53 persons and wounded 150 others today.

The aerial attackers dropped eight explosive missiles, five of which fell into a throng in the Glorieta Atocha plaza where a defense mass meeting was being held.

Stung To Fury

Stung to fury by the raid, Madrid's defense commander ordered his armies to "wipe out 50,000 of the enemy."

"Before you are rebel armies, about 50,000 strong," proclaimed Gen. Jose Maia. "Smash through them! Wipe them out!"

He ordered a relentless drive on the besiegers of Madrid a few hours after the air raid, one of the most disastrous of the siege of the city.

Felt at U. S. Embassy

The force of the explosions was felt in the United States embassy where more than 50 American nationals have taken refuge from the assaults on Madrid.

The crowded plaza was turned into a scene of horrors by the blast which shook the capital to the foundations. The assembly had been called to hear plans for the defense of Madrid.

The power of the bombs was demonstrated by the fact one blew a large hole through the roof of a subway which had been considered a bombproof shelter.

Water Mains Blasted

Two huge stone columns in front of the ministry of public works were toppled by the blast. Water mains, shattered by the explosions, sent streams high into the air.

Two other bombs fell near the Hotel Nacional and one near the government barracks on Maria Cristina street. Several more exploded near the Segovia bridge.

First reports said the attack was made by three tri-motored Fascist planes which appeared suddenly over the scene and scattered the deadly missiles into the crowd without warning. The throngs scattered but in their hasty flight the blasting steel cut them down.

Bodies Fll Streets

Bodies of men, women and children, many of them maimed beyond recognition, lay in the streets beside the carcasses of horses and mules. Dozens, suffering from shrapnel wounds, were unable to move, moaning for help.

A number of patients at the Provincial hospital, two blocks away, were thrown from their beds. Store fronts in a radius of a quarter mile were shattered.

Anti-aircraft guns fired at the planes, but apparently did not hit them.

Fresh Attack on New Deal Law

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Constitutionality of the 1936 act regulating commodity exchanges—a New Deal law—was challenged today for the third time in a case filed with the supreme court by the Board of Trade of Kansas City and 37 of its members.

Previous challenges were filed recently by members of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

The 1936 legislation broadened an act passed in 1922 to include rice, cotton, milfeeds, butter, eggs and Irish potatoes under federal regulation.

STUDEBAKER TO BE HERE FRIDAY

National Commissioner Of Education Will Conduct Forum

Dr. John W. Studebaker, national commissioner of education, will arrive in Santa Ana next week Friday, it was learned today from a message to the office of the Orange County Public forums from Washington, D. C.

The message confirmed the report that Dr. Studebaker will lead a panel discussion at the Santa Ana High school auditorium that evening on the topic: "Democracy by Discussion."

Other outstanding educators who will contribute to the panel that is one of the county forum projects include Linton T. Simmons, superintendent of Laguna Beach schools; McClellan Jones, principal of the Huntington Beach Union High school and Dr. John B. Mason, forum leader, who will discuss his views of education under the Nazi regime.

Dr. Studebaker will spend Saturday, Nov. 21 in Orange county, meeting members of the advisory committees of the Orange County Public forums at 10:30 a. m. at the Anaheim Union High school, and attending a public luncheon there at noon. Reservations for the latter may be made by telephoning Santa Ana 3272.

Canoe Travelers To Tell of Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lamb, who returned recently from a two-year sojourn in southern waters in a canoe will, speak at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Bowers Memorial museum, telling of their experiences on the journey.

Their boat and other equipment will be on exhibit at the museum at the time.

Curtis Death Called Accident

Traffic death of Elmer R. Curtis, 73-year-old pioneer Santa Ana barber, was declared accidental by a coroner's jury today.

Curtis was struck Thursday night as he crossed Main street, by a car driven by Dr. J. M. Bulpitt, 41. He had recently been in ill health, friends said.

MORE ABOUT PAY BOOSTS

000 a year went into effect at E. I. Dupont de Nemours and Company's Old Hickory units at Nashville, Tenn., employing 5,500.

In the textile field thousands of workers were cheered by news of fatter pay envelopes. The Lorraine Manufacturing Company at Pawtucket raised its salary outlay $260,000 per year by increasing hourly and piece rates 10 per cent for 2,700 cotton-rayon and woolen division employees. Similar increases granted by other cotton or woolen plants in Massachusetts, Vermont, Rhode Island and Maine raised to some 15,000 the number of New England textile hands benefiting.

Other Raises
The Nashua Manufacturing company of Nashua, N. H., announced a general wage increase for the cotton textile company's 3,500 Nashua employees to be effective Nov. 30. The rate of increase was not announced.

Raises at an undisclosed rate were ordered for 5,000 workers in the footwear factory of U. S. Rubber Products, Inc., at Naugatuck, Conn.

Advances of from 5 to 10 per cent for all employees, about 4,000, were voted by the Simons Saw and Steel company, with units at Fitchburg, Mass.; Lockport, N. Y., and Chicago, among other cities.

Eastman Boosts, Too
Earlier in the week the Eastman Kodak company at Rochester, N. Y., declared a $2,220,000 wage dividend, $1,000,000 greater than employees received in 1935.

Cutler-Sanner, Inc., announced distribution of $225,000 to 2,750 employees in New York and Milwaukee.

The Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company of Pontiac, Mich., ordered a 5-cents-an-hour pay increase and distribution of a $250,000 "appreciation fund."

Big Christmas Bonus
The Simmons company announced a $300,000 Christmas bonus for 12,000 workers at Kenosha, Wis., and 17 branch plants. An added outlay of $100,000 per year was involved in the Chicago Motor Coach company's announcement of 5-cents-an-hour boosts for drivers and 3 cents for shop employees, the latter to be augmented each six months by 2½ cents more.

The Royal Typewriter company at Hartford, Conn., raised 5,000 employees' wages 8½ to 9 per cent.

MORE ABOUT SAN CLEMENTE

actively concerned with the welfare of San Clemente. He has another dream city now—Twenty-Nine Palms, on the edge of the desert.

And San Clemente no longer is a private dream—it is a commercial proposition, largely dedicated to the welfare of the Bank of America and the Capital company of Los Angeles.

First Baptism
It is a young city, but it has seen some turbulent times in its career.

Long ago, before anybody in this part of California knew anything about building ordinances, the first Christian was baptised by Father Francisco Gomez, who accompanied the first Spanish expedition to California, on a spot very near where San Clemente later was born.

The townsite was a part of the old Rancho Los Desechos Spanish grant, owned by pioneer Don Marco Forster. It changed hands several times before Ole Hanson came down out of the tall timbers around Seattle, Wash., where he was mayor, and bought it.

Trouble Arrives
In 1925 Hanson started his "ideal" city there, and in 1928 San Clemente was incorporated as a sixth class city, with Thomas Murphree as mayor.

During the years of the "great prosperity" San Clemente prospered. Trouble arrived with the depression, when property owners no longer could pay high assessments on their holdings. Ole Hanson came to grief, and political factionalism took its toll.

The climax came a year ago, when San Clemente announced it no longer could pay its city officials, and was shutting its doors as a municipality. The Bank of America owned most of the property thereabouts, through mortgage foreclosures, and had paid no taxes for years.

Political War
Just before the city hall was doomed to darkness the city was saved from extinction when the bank agreed to make a substantial payment on its tax delinquencies. The city was saved, but the political war went on.

A. T. Smith was mayor, and according to his opponents, had things effectively sewed up. Tommy Murphree, now a deputy sheriff, was chief of police. A good part of San Clemente's municipal income, the ugly rumor had it, came from fines assessed against drivers caught in "road traps" strung along the city streets.

In a political battle of the titans Dan Mulherson, WPA executive ousted Smith from power. His first official act was to "clean house" in the Spanish Village, and the transition from Ole Hanson's dream city to the Bank of America "investment city" was almost complete.

"City of Fiction"
Yesterday's court action completed the transaction. The Capital Company now owns 2400 of San Clemente's building lots, and it has permission from the courts to go ahead with any sort of building it contemplates—naturally within reason.

"Ole Hanson," said the Capital Company's attorney yesterday, "might as well have specified gold leaf on the roofs of San Clemente's homes as the type of building he did. His city was founded on some city of fiction."

The Capital Company's city, he implied, is founded on cold fact. And Ole Hanson's dream, which he felt was "holding back the city from progress," will hold it back no more.

Although B. Z. McKinney, Democratic leader and new city attorney appointed by the Mulherson city government, bemoaned the "different, cheaper type of home that would ensue," the way is cleared for a San Clemente drug store that will not resemble a Spanish villa, and a filling station in the Spanish Village that will not masquerade as a chateau.

Johnson to Hold 2 Posts Five Days

DENVER. (AP)—Gov. Ed C. Johnson, newly elected United States senator of Colorado, will hold both offices for four days next January, he announced here. He said he planned to be sworn in as senator when congress meets Jan. 3 and will not end his gubernatorial term until the Colorado legislature opens Jan. 7.

MEDIATION BY LABOR URGED

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—George L. Berry, President Roosevelt's coordinator for industrial cooperation, today proposed arbitration to prevent the threatened split in the American Federation of Labor. Berry, also president of the Printing Pressmen's union and of Labor's Non-partisan league, told reporters labor always had insisted upon arbitration in its scraps with employers and now should use it in its own internal feuds.

Berry dropped this proposal into a pre-convention atmosphere charged with determination of craft union leaders to oust from the federation John L. Lewis, president of the United Iron Workers, and his 10 rebel unions.

PROBE DEATH OF MISSIONARY

PEIPING. (AP)—Investigation of the death early today at Kalgan of Karl Benhardt Olsen, American missionary of Gully, Minn., was ordered by the United States embassy today on the basis of reports he had been driven from his home by Japanese troops while ill with smallpox.

Representatives of the embassy were dispatched into north China to inquire into Olsen's death, to determine the whereabouts of two other American missionaries, and to gather first hand information on reports of fighting in Suiyuan province.

Nazis Destroy Statue of Famed Mendelssohn

LEIPZIG, Germany. (AP)—The statue of Felix Mendelssohn before the Gewandhaus in this world-famed music center, has been removed and destroyed by order of the Nazi government, it was learned today.

German encyclopedias, dated prior to 1933, mention Mendelssohn and Arthur Nikisch as the Gewandhaus orchestra's most celebrated conductors. Nevertheless, Nazi authorities felt that neither Mendelssohn's service to the Gewandhaus nor his world fame as a composer could overcome the fact that he was a Jew.

Judge Craig Faces New Ouster Suit

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Justice Gavin W. Craig, convicted last year in federal court of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Italo petroleum mail fraud case, today faced a new move to oust him from the appellate court bench.

The board of trustees of the Los Angeles Bar Association announced it would ask the state legislature next January to adopt a joint resolution removing Justice Craig from office. He recently won a state supreme court ruling that he still held his post and was entitled to draw his salary, since he had never been removed by the process outlined in California law.

Yacht Blows Up; 2 on Board Hurt

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—The master and cook of the research yacht Scripps were in serious condition here today as result of an explosion and fire which destroyed the vessel in the San Diego Yacht club basin here yesterday.

Capt. Murdoch G. Ross, 50, and Henry Ball, 60, the cook, were working in the hold when the mysterious explosion occurred. Planking was ripped off the deck and wreckage hurled 50 feet in the air by the blast.

Rule DuPont Firm To Pay Huge Tax

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The board of tax appeals ruled today that Almour Securities, Inc., a Florida corporation, of which Alfred I. Du Pont, his wife and brother-in-law were principal shareholders, was liable for more than $2,000,000 income taxes in 1928 and 1932.

Celestial Meeting to End Dry Weather Spell

of two Roman gods, Santa Ana is to get relief from dry air and desert wind. That was the basis of a rain prediction by John H. Trickey, ace weather prophet of Orange. "The Santa Ana wind period will not end until after the conjunction of the two beautiful planets, Jupiter, the highest in the southwest evening sky, and beautiful Venus, approaching," he reported. "The conjunction takes place on the 12th and 13th, but the influence will still be felt until around the 16th."

Umbrella for Winner
So Trickey picks Nov. 16 for the beginning of the first one-inch rain, and Mrs. Trickey picks Nov. 18. Each set 4 p. m. for the start.

Winner of the Journal's rain guessing contest will be presented an umbrella from Rankin's. There's still time to enter. Forecasts may be sent to The Journal contest editor.

With a big Armistice day parade and celebration here, it was natural to suppose a rain would fall

'Moses' Baby Story a Hoax

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crawford, who live in the backwoods near Peral river, La., are pictured with "Baby Moses," so named because Mrs. Crawford first declared he had been left at her door by a dog. But she admitted, after the baby had been taken by welfare authorities, that she invented the story because she did not want her husband to know she bore the infant. (Associated Press photo.)

Poem Lauds Skinny Skirvin On His Birthday

"Skinny" Skirvin, popular Journal columnist, had a birthday yesterday. It was Friday the thirteenth, but that didn't bother Skinny. In fact it was really a lucky day for him. He had a poem written in his honor. It was composed by N. Opal Davis, secretary to W. B. Williams, cashier of the First National bank. The poem tells of Skinny dozing in church, and how he makes a hit with the girls. Here it is:

MORE ABOUT REFUSE JOBS

here in the spring, Bray said. The local season starts before the valley season ends.

Fallert said about 50 men here have taken assignments to Imperial valley jobs through his office. No transportation is provided.

Pay offered is 1½ cents per pound for picking peas, $5.25 per acre for thinning lettuce, 30 cents per hour for pulling carrots and spinach, and $1.75 per 100 pounds for picking long staple cotton.

Will Cooperate

Miss Dorothy Foote, case supervisor of the local SRA headquarters, said the State Relief administration maintains an office which investigates work in other counties.

"If he reports that there is adequate work in other counties and that everything we can do to cooperate," said Miss Foote. In the past, she said, workers have been sent to other counties and have found conditions not as represented. In several cases they found it necessary to apply for relief in the other counties in order to get transportation back to their place of legal residence.

To Absorb Labor

At WPA it was pointed out that for a family man to go to the valley would require that he leave his family here and live in a camp or pay board and room. Both local relief agencies indicated that men in the past have found living costs high in relation to pay.

Bray said that PWA construction projects now under way and several which will start soon will absorb the bulk of the really qualified labor in Orange county. Prado dam, expected to be started early next year if the county votes flood control bonds, will create an additional demand.

Each morning starts he on his way To get the doings of the day, And as he goes from place to place A smile appears on every face.

And when at night his work is done, He's left behind him lots of fun. Could any man, tho' lean or fat, Do any greater thing than that?

So we today our greetings send, And hope to his birthday they'll lend A little bit of that same cheer That he gives out all through the year.

Liquor License Case Submitte

The business fate of Louis C. Green, Huntington Beach liquor dealer, today hung in the balance as state officials prepared to present a case on license revocation to the board of equalization in Sacramento.

Green was required to appear at a license revocation hearing here this week, after a Huntington Beach jury had acquitted him on two counts of selling liquor to a minor. Testimony and evidence later were produced before a special court, which will report its findings to the state board for action. Decision is expected within two weeks.

A. C. Miller of 720 West Santa Clara and Tom West of Santa Ana rural route 4 picked yesterday for their rain. It didn't arrive.

Mrs. King Rutledge, Stanton, picked 5 a. m. today for the beginning of the rain.

Congratulates Prophet
Other predictors and their dates are Billy West, Nov. 16; Clara A. Schultz, Nov. 24; Frederick P. Schultz, Nov. 26; U. P. Dallas, Nov. 27; Ruth Bishop, Nov. 28 and W. H. Smith, Dec. 6.

Trickey not only submitted his own guess, but wrote: "I should like to congratulate Mr. Murray (Martin G. Murray of Huntington Beach) for his prediction. It is not guesswork, but based on scientific principles."

Murray picks his by the stars, but can't tell whether the storm will be rain or wind. He picked the winds of Oct. 20 and Nov. 2.

CHILD RELIEF UNIT HEADS REELECTED

Officers and directors of the Orange County Crippled Children's Relief association were re-elected to serve for the coming year at a meeting held yesterday at the Doris Kathryn tearoom in Santa Ana.

Consolidation Planned For County Flood Control Ballot

There will be 116 polling places when the board of supervisors calls a $2,000,000 bond election to provide funds for flood control on the Santa Ana river and other streams.

County Clerk J. M. Backs today announced he had arranged the consolidation of the county's 245 regular precincts into less than half that number of consolidated precincts. Most of the combining was done in cities, Santa Ana being reduced from 71 to 23 precincts.

Backs was asked to arrange the polling place list so that it can be incorporated in a resolution calling for the election.

Supervisors indicate that the election will be called shortly after the first of January. The amount required for purchase of rights of way will be made known within a few days when appraisers finish their work.

The balance of funds for the work to cost a total of $13,000,000, was provided in a congressional appropriation bill last June.

DOG AND OWNER REUNITED
A Santa Ana man and his dog, a beautiful collie found wandering at Escondido, were to be brought together today through the activity of the Escondido Humane society.

Mrs. Ellen Knapp Everitt, president of the society, today had written both the Chamber of Commerce and E. L. Vegely, city clerk, that the dog had been found.

The collie, she said, wore a Santa Ana license No. 255. The city clerk's office said the license was registered to J. J. Seewester, 1428 French street, and that the dog was named "Laddie." Seewester was to be notified by Poundmaster Harold Pickering.

Driver Arrested After Accident
Charged with drunk driving Jack W. Snell, 23, Placentia carpenter, was in the county jail today awaiting trial. He was arrested early this morning by California highway patrol officers following an accident at Lincoln and Euclid streets, Anaheim.

He was given first aid for cuts and bruises before being jailed. Harry Augustus, a passenger, also was slightly injured and was given first aid at the county hospital for lacerations.

Drivers of two pickup trucks were slightly injured yesterday in a collision at Fairview and Sullivan streets and were treated by a Garden Grove physician. They were Ray B. Price, 24, 1101 Hickory street, and Glenn Roderick, 21, Garden Grove.

To Stage Wedding On Roller Skates
A wedding on roller skates will be staged in Santa Ana next Thursday night. The ceremony will take place at the Santa Ana Roller rink, it was announced today.

A popularity contest is being staged among five young couples planning to marry in the near future. The winners of the contest will be selected for the wedding ceremony.

A fancy skating program and other entertainment will be provided at the rink. Doors will open at 7:30 p. m. and the wedding will be performed at about 8:15 p. m.

Says Auto Ran Over His Foot
Charging that Mrs. Marie Schildmeyer had driven her car over his foot while he sat trimming the lawn in front of his home at Fourth and Weston streets, Santa Ana, Fred E. Foor started suit in superior court today against Mrs. Schildmeyer and her husband, F. W. Schildmeyer.

Poor asks $15,814.62 damages for injuries which he claims are permanent. He is represented in his action by S. B. Kaufman, Anaheim attorney.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Journal.)

In last evening's column the statement was made that additional election information would be given in tonight's column.

The writer is indebted to A. M. Mapes of this city for some state of Ohio election news, obtained from a clipping of a Cleveland newspaper, which he knows will interest Orange county Townsends.

This will help to give understanding of the tremendous victory won by the Townsend movement has achieved in the election.

It was in Cleveland of the state from which comes this election news material, where the Townsends have a vivid memory of having staged their second great Townsend national convention.

That convention left some very satisfying memories, as some delegates were not so satisfactory. The largeness of the convention group, the good sense of its delegates as a whole, and the way its happenings were heralded over the nation by the news correspondents were generally appreciated by the nation's Townsends.

But a high state of emotional intensity manifested in the convention was foundational cause for some convention happenings which have not been conducive to all memories of the convention being happy ones. The unexpected and somewhat harmful oratory of Father Coughlin as a convention speaker in giving the lie to the President of the nation, was deeply regretted by most Townsends.

The boom in convention delegates of statements made by Norman Thomas as a guest speaker of the convention, likewise branded the Townsends as being equally guilty of disrespect with other large audience groups when in disagreement with statements made by a guest speaker.

In a land where free speech is advocated as a practice and a privilege to the end that clear judgment may be reached relative to debatable issues, resort to such practice as booing is a sad reflection upon any group, and especially the Townsends.

The attempt of certain Townsend leaders to oust Dr. Townsend from leadership and seize control of the Townsend movement. Their final resort to an injunction from the Ohio courts against the OARP and the Townsend movement founder which is still standing. The more or less partisan prejudice which portions of the convention group evidenced but which as a whole was repudiated by the major portion of the thousands of delegates. These things were carried back home by the Townsend convention delegates as memories, which were not entirely happy. Naturally the effect of such would be more generally harmful in the state where the convention was being held, because knowledge would be more complete. But the Ohio Townsends have proved themselves as possessed of an undergirding of stability which all Townsends should have. Their election results prove it.

Ohio has 22 congressional districts and the privilege of electing a congressman at large in addition. The Townsend organization and the National Union for Social Justice party were active and influential in Ohio during the campaign. To a considerable degree they worked together in behalf of congressional candidates.

The Ohio paper lists seven of the elected congressmen of that state as having been Townsend endorsed. Of this number six were also endorsed by the Union party. In addition to this, the Union party elected eight other of the state's elected congressmen. The information in this paper, therefore, credit to the combined powers of the Townsend organization and the National Union party as being in a considerable measure responsible for the election of 15 of the 23 congressmen elected.

There is an angle to all this which seems peculiar, and yet coincides with the attitude of the Townsend movement and the Union party movement. It is this: Both parties were opposed to the re-election of President Roosevelt but strange to say, all 15 of those elected congressmen who were elected as a result of Townsend and Union party support are Democrats. It would seem sensible to believe that the sympathy of understanding and purpose which existed previous to the election between the Townsend movement and the National Union party will have a reason to continue, at least among this bloc of Ohio congressmen.

The writer has a purpose in giving this information in today's column. The purpose is this: to furnish evidence "hy it is logical to believe that the Townsend strength in the incoming session of congress will not be confined solely to those congressmen who have been elected because of Townsend support. It will include others who have been elected as a result of National Union for Social Justice party effort. It is also given so western Townsends can more thoroughly understand the workings of the coming congress.

Tonight I give you the list of Ohio congressmen elected and because of Townsend support as I did in this column recently those of your own state. Kept for future reference it will enable you to judge more accurately their fitness as Townsend representatives. The list follows: John W. McSweeney,

WALTER R. ROBB, author of the Townsend News, Views column.

TALK MERGER OF WAR AND NAVY SETUP

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Agitation for a merger of the war and navy departments came to the surface again today as a by-product of current studies looking toward a possible sweeping reorganization of the government.

Congressional experts at work on the surveys said requests had been received for reconsideration of bills to create a department of national defense. A number of such bills are lying dormant in committee files.

However, senate and house committees virtually were marking time on all reorganization problems pending receipt of reports from the Brookings Institution, which was engaged to do the fact-finding.

The reorganization committee of the senate is headed by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) while Representative Buchanan (D-Tex.) heads the house committee.

A third committee, appointed by President Roosevelt, also is studying the reorganization question and will report to congress as well as to the chief executive.

Among proposals for consolidating the war and navy departments was a bill introduced in January, 1935, by Senator King (D-Utah) providing for the grouping of the army, navy and air services under one cabinet officer with assistant secretaries in direct charge of each.

S. A. HOSPITAL BOOSTS WAGES
Directors of Santa Ana Valley hospital last night voted a wage increase for the nursing staff and started action for improvements and new equipment at the institution.

The increase, which varies with the individuals, will bring the wage scale to a figure comparable with other hospitals, directors said. It wipes out wage reductions made five years ago.

Directors also decided to soundproof the nursery and add an outside stairway for delivery of food to the kitchen, and directed purchase of a new infra-red treatment lamp and an autolap for sterilizing dressings, to cost approximately $900.

Happy Birthday
The Journal congratulates the following whose birthday anniversaries occur today and tomorrow, Nov. 14 and 15:

TODAY
CLAYTON S. KIRVIN, 1625 Spurgeon street.
MRS. M. C. EASTERLY, 401 East First street.

TOMORROW
MISS CAROLINE FISHER, 1237 Grand street.
BERTA L. ARMSTRONG, 1008 North Broadway.

Congressman-at-large: Arthur W. Aleshire, senate district; Robert T. Secret, 15th district; Michael J. Kirwan, 19th district; Martin L. Sweeney, 20th district; Robert Crosser, 21st district, and Anthony A. Fieger, 22nd district. The six last named were also endorsed by the National Union party.

I also list for your future reference the eight other elected Ohio congressmen who were not endorsed by the Townsend organization but who were elected because of National Union for Social Justice party support: Joseph A. Dixon, first district; Herbert S. Bigelow, second district; Frank C. Kniffen, fifth district; Brooks Fletcher, eighth district, and William A. Ashbrook, 15th district.

As already stated the entire group of the above listed 15 elected congressmen are Democrats, and yet elected by the two movements who opposed the re-election of the Democratic party chief. The recent issue of the Townsend weekly added to the above list of Townsend endorsed Ohio congressmen, the name of Dudley A. White, Republican, from the 13th district. Altogether there is a possibility of a formidable showing of Townsend strength from the Ohio bloc of congressmen in the coming session of congress. It would be interesting to watch this group when congress gets underway. They will be answerable to their own constituents. And the Townsends and the National Union for Social Justice party folk of Ohio would be slow in telling them who are their constituents.

About Folks

News of Your Family and Friends Is Important. The Journal Welcomes It. Telephone 3600.

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert E. Lentz of Encinitas spent several days in Santa Ana this week visiting the family of their daughter, Mrs. William Jerome, jr., 2209 Greenleaf street, and the mother of Mrs. Lentz, Mrs. C. R. Langley, who is at Loma Linda sanitarium for her health.

Mrs. C. C. Kirkham, 407 West First street, received news yesterday of the birth of a son on Nov. 12 to her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Turner, of Mesa, Ariz. Mrs. Kirkham plans to visit with them in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gould were guests on Thursday night of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gage of Beverly Hills, when they attended the Sweepstakes dinner at Club Del Mar, Santa Monica.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Harbert, 305 South Bristol street, have as their house guest for several days Henry May of San Diego. With Miss Lorna Barry they made a foursome at the Elitmore dinner-dance Tuesday evening.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Burke, 1416 Orange avenue, this week were Mrs. Dorothy Lyman of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Colwell of Portland, who have gone to Santa Monica to spend the winter.

Mrs. Ida Blee, 311 Orange avenue, had as house guests recently several members of her family. Her son, Robert H. Blee of Bishop, with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Reynolds of Dallas, Tex., drove to Santa Ana via Occidental college, there picking up Miss Sari Blee, Robert Blee, jr., and his wife and little daughter of San Diego were also part of the family reunion.

Among those attending the U. C. L. A. Washington State football game at the Los Angeles Coliseum today were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund West, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guild.

Miss Evelyn Feather of San Jose arrived by airplane last evening to attend the wedding today of Miss Eva Martin.

MRS. CHANDLER RETURNS HOME
Still suffering severe pain but considered out of serious danger, Mrs. B. J. Chandler returned to her home here last night when she was injured in a fatal bus and truck collision last Wednesday.

Mrs. Chandler must remain in bed for some time, relatives said. She sustained four fractured ribs, a wrenched shoulder and severe bruises. Her husband, B. J. Chandler, local furniture man, brought her to Santa Ana by auto yesterday.

At the time of the crash Mrs. Chandler was on her way to San Francisco to join her sister, Mrs. Harry M. Fremont of Santa Ana, and attend a birthday celebration for their mother.

TEACHER WINS SALARY BOUT
J. C. Thompson, San Juan Capistrano high school teacher, today won the right to $50 in salary, being withheld on attachment for an unsatisfied justice court judgment.

Thompson had the $50 returned to him because the salary check was for services rendered after he had been adjudged a bankrupt and before the levy of execution. His claim of exemption was granted by Justice Kenneth Morrison.

The original suit was brought by Augusta Bartow to collect on a $500 note given her by Thompson. Mrs. Bartow received part payment when Thompson's assets were distributed after bankruptcy, his claim of exemption stated.

Walnut Pool to Close Here Today
All walnuts to be handled by the Santa Ana Walnut Growers association plant here will have been delivered by 5 p. m. today when the pool closes. A. E. Confer, manager, said today.

He said he would not know the exact extent of the crop, previously estimated at about 600 tons, until after tonight. This year the crop is said to be only about 55 per cent of last year's bumper production.

Park Commission On Local Tour
Members of the state park commission this morning visited parks at San Clemente and Delaney Park in the course of an inspection trip of the south coast region.

Dan Mulherson, county WPA manager and former San Clemente mayor, conducted the group in a trip to the San Clemente state park.

POLICE PROBE MAILING OF DEAD BABY

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Postal authorities and police pressed their search today for the person who mailed a baby boy's body to a non-existent address.

Mystery surrounded the gruesome discovery, made yesterday in the dead letter office where the heavily-wrapped cardboard box had been held since Wednesday.

Microscopic examination disclosed a Chicago cancellation mark on the 81 cents in postage. A possible clue to the origin was seen in the figures "1431," printed in the center of the cancellation.

Postal inspectors said they might be a Chicago sub-station postmark. It was first thought the package was mailed in Oakland, Calif.

The box was addressed to "Frances Munger, St. Mercie Hospital, San Francisco." No hospital of that name exists here, and St. Mary's hospital nearest approach to the address, has no Frances Munger.

The return address, "No. 2745 Maldon, Oakland," also was without meaning to puzzled authorities. The street does not exist.

Dr. Sherman Leland, city autopsy surgeon, said death occurred about five days ago, at or shortly after birth.

Analyzes War

DR. JOHN MASON

The Spanish revolution will be the subject of the Orange county public forums when the Santa Ana section meets Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the high school auditorium. The forum leader will be Dr. John Brown Mason, who was born in Germany and received his early education there. He later came to America and received both his A. M. and his Ph. D. at the University of Wisconsin. He has taught in the University of Arkansas and is now the head of the department of social science in the Colorado Women's college.

Dr. Mason spent the past summer in Europe, where he studied conditions in Germany, France, Belgium, Switzerland and the Free City of Danzig. In discussing the Spanish revolution he will rebuild the historical background and analyze the causes of the present civil war. He will present the international implications as they reveal the struggle between Fascism, Communism and Democracy.

FULLERTON is becoming a regular Green, and the genial city judge, Halsey I. Spence, is making a name for himself as a "marriny" judge. This, since Judge Spence learned the other day that he tied a famous movie knot when he married Harpo Marx and Susan Fleming, famed dancer.

Judge Spence was taken back when he learned he'd married the well-known couple. Miss Louise Johnson, who serves as the judge's secretary, happened to notice a report of the purported wedding of the couple, on Sept. 26. She started thinking about weddings on that date, and finally remembered the judge officiated in a ceremony about that time.

So she and Judge Spence started looking in the little black book where marriages are recorded. And, on Sept. 28 they discovered that one Alolph Marx and Alva Fleming had appeared before the Fullerton jurist, had been married, and scrambled, all before anyone realized that famous folk were about.

Judge Spence said no one would have recognized the illustrious Harpo. He was becomingly attired in some sort of jacket, very roughish and out of style. Dressed more like a truck driver than a famous stage and movie star. Miss Fleming was just another beautiful girl. That's what the judge said!

But that's only half of the story. Thursday night the Spence telephone buzzed. The judge answered, and a foreign voice calling from Los Angeles, asked if the judge would perform a marriage ceremony at about 11:30 o'clock.

Ever willing to be of assistance, the judge said he would, if the parties would be certain to show up. They promised to be there on time, then Judge Spence told 'em to go to the police station, and the local cops would show 'em the way to his home.

At 11:30 the couple failed to show up. At 12 o'clock they were still missing. A long time later, at 1 o'clock, when the judge was about to give up his vigil, he heard strange noises outside his home.

He peeked carefully from the front door. There stood two burly policemen, escorting a handcuffed couple. Behind the captured couple, two-by-two, in a line that stretched almost across the street, were 35 assistants!

After making sure he wasn't going to find it necessary to wasn't the whole gang, Judge Spence invited the party into the house. They swarmed all over the place, and, with more than enough witnesses, the marriage ceremony was performed.

Afterward, Judge Spence learned that the couple, Vincent De Rubertis and Evelyn Lozwe, were connected with Paramount studios. The entire music department of the studio decided to accompany the happy pair and watch the ceremony. They were shepherded to the scene by Phillip A. Gahagan, big department of the Paramount musical department.

Which was the most crowded wedding at which the judge ever officiated.

Fire Chief Frank Crocker, guitar-playing blaze battler at Newport Beach, thought The Journal gave him and his men a slight overdose of favorable publicity following the near-disastrous cany fire at Newport Beach last Sunday.

I'm wondering how Frank feels about the situation today! His home town paper, not content with utilizing numerous paragraphs patting the chief and his boys on their respective backs, goes on to say: "Credit is due the firemen for their prompt and 'skilful' subduing of the flames."

Headwork, what?

But, no foolin'! Frank and his guys deserve plenty for taking care of that fire. Remember how that Santa Ana—pardon me! How that desert wind was blowing last Sunday? Even at Newport, a slight gusty wind claims the weather is almost always perfect, the wind was roaring. And it takes real skill to control a blaze under such conditions.

So I'm afraid Frank will have to put up with a bit of backpating!

GROVE SOCIETY PLANS RITE

GARDEN GROVE.—Plans for the annual Thank Offering program of the Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church were announced for Sunday when the members of the Home and Foreign societies met for an all day session at the church, Thursday.

The program will be given at the regular church hour and Mrs. M. L. Wright of El Monte, a trustee of the Southern California conference will speak.

Mrs. J. L. Mitchell as program chairman, Thursday, presented Mrs. Merritt White of the Santa Ana adult education department, in a book review. Mrs. A. L. Schneider sang negro spirituals and Mrs. E. R. Schneider led devotions.

WEEK'S REPORT SHOWS BIG INCREASE IN CITRUS RETURNS

PRICE JUMPS IN EASTERN MARKETS

Mark Set As Fruit Sells For $7.90; Outlook Poor For Lemons

Orange county's citrus growers today were gazing on sales reports for the past week with considerable satisfaction, with reports from the weekly citrus review that prices generally were almost 50 cents per box higher throughout the country.

In the New York market yesterday, one small shipment of fruit brought $7.90 per box, while all sales were generally higher. Citrus exchange officials declined to comment upon the market, pointing out that the current jump in prices affects only small offerings of fruit, and that in some markets the price was considerably lower.

Average Higher
The week's citrus average, however, showed a decided increase over last week. Figures compiled throughout the nation showed an average price of $4.44 per box during this week, as compared to $3.99 per box last week, an average increase of 49 cents per box. During the same week in 1935 the average was $3.47, showing an increase of $1.01 this year. The 1934 average at this time was $4.96.

Orange prices may not change greatly this season, according to a report from the bureau of agricultural economics in Washington, since the 1936 crop will probably be slightly under that of 1935. Damage by war to the Spanish harvest and the apple shortage will aid orange growers, economists declared.

Lemon prices, the bureau asserted, probably will decline in the next few years. The 1936 bearing acreage is estimated at 43,600 tons, a 7 per cent increase over 1935. About 16,100 acres of the total as yet is not of bearing age, it was reported.

Grapefruit prices probably will decline beginning this year, unless the industry finds new outlets for the product, or restricts the harvest, the economists declared. This week's forecast of the present season, 27,523,000 boxes, as compared with 18,516,000 last year, might lower returns to growers considerably, they said.

It is not improbable, government representatives added, that 30,000,000-box harvests will occur during the next 10 years. The 1936 crop is being produced from about one-third of trees planted, it was pointed out.

HINKLE HEADS ART EXHIBIT

HOSTAGES THEIR RESSES

By DAVIS DRESSER

Janet Duane, millionaire's daughter, gives a party one night aboard her father's palatial yacht, anchored off Miami. Gregory Gason tricks her into being left behind with him when the guests are taken ashore. He pays the launch tender not to come back for them. As far as he knows, she is like a crippled watchman is left aboard.

Gregory Gason was a thorough rogue. Confidence games, card-sharping, and discreet blackmail had provided him with funds for years. He had waited a long time for an opportunity much as this. He knew Cyrus Duane would be eager to pay any sum to keep his daughter's name from the mouths of gossip-mongers. With only the crippled watchman aboard, the situation was sufficiently compromising to make the millionaire submit to blackmail rather than let it become known.

Thus ran Gregory's thoughts as he sat with Janet in the yacht's lounge. He would have been much disconcerted had he been able to see through the bulkhead separating the lounge from the adjoining cabin, where Pandella, Janet's negro maid, crouched on the floor, her ear pressed tightly against the wall.

Pandella was fervently devoted to her mistress. Janet had brought her aboard to assist the guests at the party, and Pandella had stayed aboard secretly because she had seen Gregory pass a bill to the launch tender earlier in the day, and because her intuition had warned her that Gregory was a "bad un."

She was shaking now with fright and suspense. She had been lurking in the cabin doorway when Gregory and Janet had entered the lounge, and she was somberly positive that Gregory meant the girl no good.

These four aboard, and the Fleetwing riding serenely at anchor. Here and there, dotting the surface of the bay, glimmered the red and green lights of other anchored yachts. A silence enshrouding the scene. The glow of moonlight upon the water rendering the dark hulks of the yachts indistinctly visible.

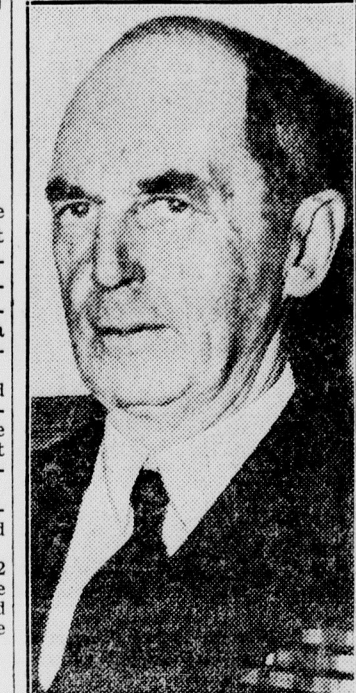

The silence was softly broken by the muffled chug-chug of a quait tugboat nosing in through the channel. Four men were standing in the cockpit. A fifth figure stood before the wheel and expertly guided The Bat between the channel markers. The men were carefully dimmed to make her as inconspicuous as possible.

The man at the wheel was broad-shouldered. His face was black-market and cruel. Cap't Jud and The Bat were known from Tampico to Binini as a pair ready to be hired for any clandestine enterprise requiring the service of a seagoing tug.

Two of the group in the cockpit included a talk by R. C. Smedley, Santa Ana, and musical numbers by Hal Pixley and the "Western Pals." Other members of the orchestra were Dan Stevens, Frank Nechman, Bill Loyd, Slim Davis, Doc Miller, Lee Williams, Elmer and Howard Ramsey.

County Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg spoke briefly. Dinner was in charge of Mesdames T. W. Clark, Walter Kubitz and Paul Andres.

The outgoing worthy matron, Mrs. Gwendolyn Thompson, and worthy patron, Carl I. Thomas, presided at the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. E. J. Browne and committee.

Bridge Club Has Meeting at C. M.
COSTA MESA.—The Thursday Afternoon Bridge club met this week at the home of Mrs. Rose Meliott, where high score was won by Mrs. J. H. Webster and consolation prize went to Mrs. George Bremer. Also present were Mesdames George Healey, J. C. Payne, Raymond Messing, Ray Wallace, J. H. Webster, Judy Wilcox and George Bremer.

They were oil-stained dungarees and were indistinguishable from a thousand of their fellows who minister to the needs of engine-driven craft upon the seas.

"Dusty" Lanion and "Snifter" Scanlon completed the group that stood silent while Cap'n Jud steered toward the Fleetwing. Snifter was short, wiry, nervous. His face was thin and sawed. His eyes were disproportionately large, and were glazed with a peculiar, smoky hue. A rat-like killer who drew courage from a white powder which he sniffed from a twisted paper in times of stress.

Dusty had a whole-souled contempt for human off-scourings such as Snifter. But Snifter had courage of a sort, and could be depended upon as long as he received regular rations of the white powder. It didn't pay to be squeamish, Dusty had found, when one was bent upon an undertaking of this magnitude.

Dusty was tall and slim-waisted. When he moved, it was with a peculiar lithe grace which caused men to underestimate his strength. His face was stern and deeply tanned.

The war had done queer things to Dusty. A quiet, thousand-lining, thrust into the man's mind, inferno, he had emerged grim and embittered. Somehow, he had found he could not return home after his discharge in 1919. He had drifted to Mexico with a construction company. There, Adventure had claimed him. A revolutionary faction had needed men. Dusty had volunteered.

Thus, fifteen years previously, had begun the career of Dusty Lanion. Soldier of fortune. Reckless adventurer. A name to be emblazoned in a thousand headlines for a thousand foolhardy exploits. Dusty Lanion! A name to conjure with wherever adventurers congregated.

Now, Dusty needed a boat. There was a cargo of arms and ammunition cached near a little cove on the Keys south of Miami. Revolutionists in Cuba had offered a large sum of cash for the safe unloading of that cargo on the Cuban shore. Gun-running was no new game to Dusty. But his last boat had been sunk off the coast of Honduras some months previously.

Perhaps Dusty had had some hand in the wholesale desertion of the Fleetwing's crew. Perhaps not. But he had marked the Fleetwing as fair prey since that occurrence. His plans were carefully laid.

The crippled watchman was ready when The Bat crept almost soundlessly under the bow of the yacht. A heaving line whistled athwart the cockpit. Stout arms dragged a tow-line aboard the tug and slipped into the trailing tender and rowed cautiously fore and aft to slash the yacht's mooring ropes. He came aboard again as the powerful engine of the tug throbbed mightily. So imperceptibly did the Fleetwing gather way that three persons aboard were unaware of the transition from anchorage to great movement.

Only the watchman, standing on the forward deck, knew that the yacht was being towed out into the open sea and that Dusty Lanion, soldier of fortune, was in charge of the tugboat which was straining against the stout hawser.

"How'm I doin'?" Cap'n Jud spun the wheel easily and grinned at Dusty.

"Eve'ything looks swell." Dusty's face was calm, though there was a glint of excitement in his eyes.

"We've pulled it slick as a whistle," Cap'n Jud boasted. "Right under thuh Coast Guard's nose, too." He gestured expressively toward the Municipal Dock, where they knew a Coast Guard cruiser was moored.

"Looks good so far," Dusty admitted cautiously. "What I'm worried about is the lookouts on some of these other yachts. They might get suspicious . . . seeing the Fleetwing towed out in the dark of night with dimmed lights and muffled engine."

"Naw," Cap'n Jud spat over the side and swung the wheel to straighten The Bat into the channel leading to the open sea. "And they wouldn't believe they was seen 'right if they did make us out. Nobody'd figure there was a man big enuff fool thuh Siscayne Bay."

Dusty's lips set grimly as he glanced back at the yacht.

"I guess everything's all right. We're almost in the clear. I'll go back. Start easing off when you pass the point. We'll drop back and go aboard. Then you come alongside and take Otto off. Dusty spoke decisively.

"Ain't yuh forgettin' somethin'?"

"Oh, yes," Dusty took a roll of bills from his pocket and counted them ruefully. "There you are." He handed the roll to Cap'n Jud. "That's the last pay-off. You come high, but you're worth it."

He clapped Cap'n Jud on the shoulder, then hurried to the cockpit, where the three men awaited him.

"Let's go," he said impatiently. "We'll be past the point in a few minutes. We've got to be aboard and get the yacht's engine started before she begins to drift."

Daughters of the American Revolution to Entertain Southern Council Here

Big Catholic Party Next Tuesday

With last minute preparations now underway for the big card party and gala program which St. Joseph's Catholic parish will sponsor next Tuesday evening at the Ebell clubhouse, committees for the various duties were announced today by Miss Mary Savana, general chairman.

The hour for opening of the program is to be promptly at 8 o'clock, at which time Baby Alice Rietz, radio and moving picture star, will make her appearance. All are urged to be there at the beginning, in order to hear this talented little person, who has just been signed for a seven-year moving picture contract.

On the program will include Arthur Casey, Charlotte Morgan, and Harry Layton, in a skit, "Standing Room Only"; the Golden State Sax quintet in selections; and a Hawaiian orchestra in a group of numbers.

Three special prizes are to be presented in addition to the prizes in bridge, pinocle, 500, and buncie which will be on the program. Two tickets to the Notre Dame football game, a decorative mirror, and a large cash award are among the featured gifts.

Social hostesses for the evening are to be the Mesdames L. M. Banks, R. A. Mosher, E. F. Brumby, J. A. Crawford, and Misses Nan and Lolita Mead and Mary Tutill.

Serve On Committee

Mesdames J. P. Murphy, C. H. Ashen, George Rivenkamp, and F. J. Flanagan, and Miss Elizabeth Paine are in charge of cards; and Misses Rose Allen, Louise Comito, and Mary Louise Dierker, buncie.

Supervising the girls who will serve are Mesdames Julius Meyer, J. Creighton, P. Telf, and Joseph Callens, and Miss Carmella Italiano. Girl graduates of St. Joseph's school and Junior Y. L. I. members will serve, these including the Mesdames Betty Voskuiter, Betty Mae Engelman, Constance Brown, Jeanie Rhines, Myrtle Humphrey, Marjorie Stanley, Genevieve Vardy, Hortense Taylor, Louise Taylor, Yvonne Sackerson, Vernice Stigers, Marilyn Maag, Betty Kolbe, Virginia Huelkamp, Rita Brady, Violet Klingman, Virginia Coffman, Constance Duffy, Mary Ruiz, Anna Niebles, Agnes Marie Orten, Lucene Orten, Margaret Smith, Helen Johnson, Wilma and Carolyn Borchard, and Anna Marie Grotz.

Assisting Mrs. William Castler in the kitchen will be the Mesdames A. McKenna, Elizabeth Knight, R. A. Aiken, E. M. Maibach, K. R. Klingman, H. Stanley, H. E. Vardy, J. F. Ireland, M. Sturbaum, M. Boden, and Miss Rafaela Italiano.

J. E. Breaux and Tony Kreip will be in charge at the door. Tickets may be secured from the Gem Electric company, 212 East Fourth street, and the California Pottery shop, 414 West Fourth street.

MRS. THOMAS IS HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Frank E. Thomas of 409 West Washington presided at a prettily arranged bridge luncheon one day this week, employing a patriotic theme, and the decorations in the dining room.

Guests were seated at one long table centered with red, white and blue flowers, and place cards and menu also bore out that motif.

Contract bridge followed in the afternoon, and prizes at the close of the playing were won by Mrs. Warren Brakeman and Mrs. Jesse Hosea.

Guests included the Mesdames W. L. Kasemann, David Meyer, Jessie White, Charles Nall, Jesse Hosea and Warren Brakeman, all of this city, Mrs. Thomas Wilson of Long Beach and Mrs. A. Goodman of Salt Lake City.

CLUB ENJOYS BUFFET SUPPER

Mrs. Bernard Parker entertained her fortnightly bridge club Thursday evening with a delicious buffet supper at her home, 2463 Heliotrope drive.

At the contract which followed, Mrs. Edmund West won an attractively wrapped box of note-paper for holding high score.

Guests of Mrs. Parker were Miss Boyd Joplin, Miss Mary Safely, Mrs. James Stephenson, Mrs. Edmund West, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Raymond Terry and Mrs. Don Park.

COMUS DANCE TO BE IN ORANGE

Orange American Legion hall is to form the setting again this month for Comus club's dance, which has been planned for Thursday evening, Nov. 19, starting at 9:30 o'clock.

Hosts and hostesses for the affair will be Messrs. and Mesdames Lawrence Bemus, Bob Fernandez, Bus McCoy and Lawrence Mitchell.

Mrs. George Preble, above, was Miss Martha Wallingford before her marriage on Armistice Day down at St. Mary's Episcopal church at Laguna Beach. The newlyweds are to be residents of Santa Ana.

EPISCOPAL WOMEN IN LOVELY PARTY

Miss Minnie Besser gave a lovely party yesterday at her home at 2042 North Ross street when she entertained at a one o'clock luncheon for the women who have been in the auxiliary of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah since its earliest days.

Many of the guests assembled for the party affair have been together in that group for 35 or 40 years, and a delightful afternoon of reminiscing as well as sewing followed the luncheon.

Miss Besser seated her guests at one large and one small table, the first, spread with a cream colored maderia linen cloth, having for a centerpiece an arrangement of gourds and fruit. Persimmons and fruit centered the other table, also spread with cream colored linen, in pretty contrast to the green glassware appointing both tables.

Chrysanthemums in the autumn shades were arranged through the rooms where the following gathered: Mesdames C. P. Kryhl, John Crawford, John Taylor, R. R. Tiffany, William Whitehead, L. M. Wollaston, Horace S. Evans, James Skegg, A. H. T. Taylor, E. S. Wakeham, E. V. S. Pomeroy, R. A. Hart, Andrew Harvey, C. S. Dunphy, Etta Evans, E. F. Matthews, William Besser, W. J. Hatter, and Glenn S. Warner and Miss Justine Whitney.

LOWELL P.-T. A. WILL STUDY HOBBIES

Lowell Parent-Teacher association will consider the thought of "Character Building Through Hobbies" when it meets at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the kindergarten room at the school.

Hobbies of the children will be on display, and Miss Juanita Pico, one of the new teachers, will present her own puppet show, representing her hobby.

Second grade pupils will present an entertainment, and their mothers will be hostesses for the social hour.

JUNIOR EBELL SECOND BOOK REVIEW TUESDAY

Junior Ebell's second book review section will hear Mona Summers Smith review the new play, "Stag Door," by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, when it meets at 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Roscoe Conklin, 2457 Heliotrope Drive.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Conklin are to be Mrs. Lee Smith and Miss Ruth Bradley.

This section is open to new members, it is announced, and all interested are asked to call Mrs. Conklin by Monday night.

CLUB MEETS AT MARSILE HOME

Mrs. Elizabeth Marsile and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Marsile, were hostesses to the Thimble club of the Native Daughters of the Golden West on Thursday afternoon.

After a buffet luncheon partaken of at small tables centered with bronze chrysanthemums, the members applied themselves diligently to finishing up the numerous articles of fancywork that will be on sale at their bazaar and dinner-fete Monday night at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Those present were Mesdames Nannie Edwards of Placentia; Edward Wagner, D. W. Ellis, Alice Rogers, Carl Schroeder, Will Mize, W. A. West, Olive Witt, A. Selvedge, Daphne Lebo, Muriel Bray, Estelle Dresser, Lillian Gant of Newport Beach, and Mrs. Raymond Marsile and Mrs. Elizabeth Marsile.

13 Celebrate Friday--13th Birthday

On his other birthdays, Jack Mandy has always had the same number of guests as he was years old, but this year, with the anniversary falling on Friday—the thirteenth for the first time since he was born in 1925, he jumped the number and was host to 13 of his friends although his age number was only 11.

The young people were invited for 3 to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, coming after school for games and fun in the backyard of the Mandy home at 1325 Orange avenue.

Before going home, they assembled in the dining room, where Mrs. Allen A. Mandy, mother of the host, served birthday cake and frozen fruit dessert. Mrs. Tom Gisler, mother of twin guests, assisted in serving.

Those participating in the very special celebration were Warner Baird, Homer Lindley, Jim Kellett, Roul Carrillo, Jay Roberts, Jim Murphy, Bobbie Cory, Herbert Lee, Agnes Kellett, Joan and Jean Gisler, Bobby Childs, and Margie Kellett.

PEACE PROGRAM IS HEARD BY A. A. U. W.

The local branch of the American Association of University Women fittingly celebrated the week of Armistice day at their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening at the Unitarian church.

Four talented young speakers from Pomona college, all members of the Emergency Peace campaign, presented the four principal divisions of the campaign in logical sequence. Pat Shield discussed the aspect of politics in preserving peace; Ruth Orblison summarized the steps of education in peace; Ed Berner related the coordination between Christianity and peace; and Lucille Wolfe, who introduced the speakers, concluded with telling of the important part women played in war and peace.

Miss Martha Ehlén, president, conducted a short business meeting previous to the interesting discussion, after which Mrs. Edith Thatcher, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Joy Drisco, who presented two delightful numbers, "On Wings of Song" and "Little Silver Wings."

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Lawrence Menge and Miss Anna Trythall served an informal tea course.

Y. L. I.'S PLAN DECEMBER ACTIVITIES

Y. L. I. members and Knights of Columbus will join for a birthday pot-luck supper on the evening of December 17 in the hall, it was announced at the regular meeting of the former this week.

Mrs. Dorothy Gisler presided over the session, during which it was decided to dispense with the next meeting, which falls on Thanksgiving, and to meet next on December 10, when the Junior Y. L. I.'s will have their Christmas dance.

A regular institute communion will be held Sunday at 8:30 a. m. at St. Joseph's, when all members will receive in a body, according to another announcement.

Refreshments were served after the meeting, and bridge games were enjoyed, with prizes going to Mrs. Katherine Maag, first, Mrs. Stella Engelman, second, and Mrs. Lorette Ashen, consolation. The white elephant prize went to Mary Louise Dierker.

CLUB PLAYS AT ELLIOTT HOME

Mrs. Jesse L. Elliott assumed hostess responsibilities of her card club Thursday evening, entertaining the group for Mrs. Ray Wolven, who was unable to have it on the regular day.

For her tables at which she seated her guests for dessert and cards, she arranged center bowls of chrysanthemums in the rich autumn tones repeated in the tables.

One guest, Mrs. Flake Smith, shared the informality of the evening, substituting for Mrs. Wolven; and the members present were the Mesdames Herbert Allen, Don Moxley, Olen Turner, Ned Hayes, Delbert Liggett, and Frank Latham, and the hostess.

TRAVEL GROUP WILL MEET

The Second Travel section of Ebell club will meet Monday afternoon at the clubhouse, with a luncheon served at 12:30 p. m. under the supervision of Mrs. Elmer Burns, Mrs. J. H. Tompkins and Mrs. George Reyburn.

A talk on Scotland will be given by Alex Brownridge, who spent several weeks there this summer. Anyone unable to attend is asked to notify Mrs. Burns at 529-R.

On Ebell Dance Committee

Junior Ebelles are in a state of gay anticipation these weeks before their fall formal dance which will be Saturday night, Nov. 28, at the Ebell clubhouse. Various committees are functioning under the able direction of Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, right, who is general chairman. Among sub-chairmen are Mrs. G. Stanley Norton, above, left, and Mrs. Oliver Lindemeyer, right, above.

Chat Awhile With Betty

By BETTY COX

How did you like the Armistice day parade?

Reactions have been as varied as were the interpretations of the safety theme, but opinions have been preponderantly in its favor. Best thing about it was that it made people think—which many parades fail to do.

Heard on the sidelines: Little girl, "Mother, when will I be old enough to a Girl Scout?"

Other reactions: Marybelle Quinn of 415 South Broadway, holder of the altitude record for women fliers, was deeply impressed with the "safety first" floats. Both she and her young son have been hurt in automobile accidents during the past year, and she feels that flying is much safer than riding on the highways.

Harry Westover, the younger, whose birthday was on Armistice day, thought the parade was all in his honor.

Mrs. Clyde Deardorff's beautiful black mare, "Reina," scored again. Ridden by Gene Thomas in the parade, she took the trophy for best silver-mounted horse for men. Mrs. Otto McClure, riding her own beautiful sorrel, won in best silver-mounted for ladies.

A deep bow to little Ann Stauffer, who, at one and one-half years, can put real interpretation into her favorite poem: "Roses on my shoulders, 'Dimples in my cheeks, 'I'm my mother's darling, 'Don't you think I'm sweet?" (Big voice) "NO!"

Those may not be the exact words, but words don't matter when you are watching her prettily pink cheeks, sparkling blue eyes, and golden curls. And she thinks the toy department of her Grandma Wieseman's store is just the grandest place.

History note: The Terry Stephensons are going to miss their favorite football game this year for the first time in years.

They had a big-and-little-pie contest out at Spurgeon school recently, and a pie just big enough to hold one cranberry won first.

Little Mary Patience, four-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Harvey of Balboa Island, is getting lots of attention these days, because she's the first baby girl in the several younger-generation families of the White tribe. Her mother was Celestine White.

We're sorry to pass on the word that Margaret (Mrs. Lloyd) Shearer is not regaining her health as rapidly as everyone had hoped. She's at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Patterson.

Those two attractive young school-marks, Boyd Joplin and Mary Safely, are preparing to trek northward to eat turkey in San Francisco during the forthcoming holidays.

Louise and Eddie West and Blanche and Bernard Parker, lucky folks, plan to leave Tuesday via Reno, etc., for the Big Game Nov. 21—and who said anything about the Bay Meadows ponies?

Maria (Mrs. Raymond) Terry has blossomed forth with a new hairdress this week that is a sensation—and most becoming to her. Her black locks sweep from two little rolls over the other in a most

POEMS GIVE CLUES TO SHOWER GIFTS

As a final courtesy for Miss Margaret Jean Jackson, before her wedding with Hilton Daleesi this month, Miss Priscilla Elybach of Fullerton chose a clever treasure hunt theme for a miscellaneous shower at her home Thursday evening.

After bridge games, the diversion for several hours, the guest of honor was presented with a handful of poetic clues to the whereabouts of her gifts, which were found in various hiding places through the house.

At a late hour, the guests returned to the tables, which had been cleared and spread with dainty linens for a refreshment course. Yellow and white flowers and nap caps with little yellow shower umbrellas set the color motif which was repeated in the wedding bell molds of ice cream and the petit fours.

Enjoying the pre-nuptial courtesy were the bride-to-be and her two sisters, Mrs. Hume West of Santa Ana, dean of men at the junior college, who gave a most interesting talk last month before this group, will again be the speaker, and the mixed double quartet from the high school will sing a group of numbers.

Membership prize of a book will be presented at this time to the winning room.

Fathers especially are invited to Wilson P.-T. A.'s next meeting, which will be next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the school.

Guests Fish Toys From Well

Bringing the old game up to date, children at Marjorie Lou McCallen's eighth birthday party Thursday afternoon pinned the comb on the Thanksgiving turkey instead of the tail on the donkey in one of the games filling the delightful two hours after school.

Seventeen little girls and boys were invited by Marjorie Lou's mother, Mrs. M. M. McCallen, to their home at 1816 Heliotrope drive.

One of the first things they did was to go fishing in the pretty little wishing well, where each found a toy favor to take home. In the turkey game, first prize was won by June Trickey, who received a handkerchief gift, and consolation by Audrey Macurda.

The table, to which they were invited at the end of the afternoon, was centered with fruits predominantly in yellow shades, and popper favors, place cards and candy baskets were in the same colors. A yellow and white birthday cake did the honors of the day.

Children gathering for the gala celebration were Virginia Kenyon, Beverly Bond, Virginia Wright, Mary Jean Tedstrom, John Slagle, Helen Lockett, June Trickey, Eleanor Downey, Marjorie Hendricks, Audrey Macurda, Hazel Bradley, Lois Hagen, Jean Carl, Faith Osborn, Philip Riley, and Billy and Marcus McCallen.

PILOTEERS INITIATE FIVE

Piloteers, newest girls' service group on the jaysce campus, initiated five pledges in impressively formal candlelight ceremonies Thursday night in the Visel-Haughton studios, Miss Bessie Burles, the president, presenting the pledges of membership to the following:

Pearl Worthy, Virginia Motley, Madeline Prover, Roberta Berry, and Phyllis Farquhar.

All of the girls were in formal dresses, Miss Burles wearing a long black satin gown.

Past and present officers took part in the candlelighting, the participants including, in addition to Miss Burles, the Misses Marian Pletko, vice president; Eunice Rile, secretary; Eleanor Buckles, treasurer; Evelyn Hammett, reporter, and Lois Newbold, past president.

Others present were the Misses Irene Pyle, Charlotte McCausland, Mildred Filer, Leola Schroeder, Marjane Belcher and Eunice Labrow, and the five new initiates.

Orange ice and wafers were served at the close of the evening, and committees were appointed to assist Los Gachos in the penny fair December 4.

LOWELL P.-T. A. TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Fathers especially are invited to Wilson P.-T. A.'s next meeting, which will be next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the school.

Calvin Flint, dean of men at the junior college, who gave a most interesting talk last month before this group, will again be the speaker, and the mixed double quartet from the high school will sing a group of numbers.

TONIGHT'S BRIDE HONORED

Miss Mary DeVoe, who will be married this evening in a ceremony at 8 o'clock at the Seventh Day Adventist church, was honored this week at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Alice Skinner at her home at 914 West 2nd street. Miss Vera Emerson assisted in entertaining.

About 30 friends gathered for the pre-nuptial courtesy, which concluded with the serving of dainty refreshments by the two hostesses. A program by the members was enjoyed during the evening hours.

Miss DeVoe, who is the daughter of Mrs. Helen DeVoe of 618 Riverside, will become the bride of Wilbert Knoefler of Arlington tonight.

GRAND-NIECE CROWNED QUEEN

The thrill of seeing her little grand-niece, Dorothy LuBosch, two years of age, crowned queen of a baby health and beauty pageant at Pomona was accorded Mrs. J. P. Hanson of 617 W. First street, who returned last night from several days of visiting in Pomona.

Judges rated the tiny miss 100 per cent in health and 96.4 per cent in beauty, the highest score of any child in the event. Pythian Sisters were sponsors.

Dorothy is the daughter of Mrs. Hanson's niece, Mrs. Al LuBosch, who was widely known here as Miss Elsie Parker. Mrs. Hanson's visit in Pomona was with her sister, Mrs. Walter Confer.

HOSTESS

Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, above, regent of Santa Ana chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be official hostess Tuesday when the Southern Council of the D. A. R. meets in a conclave at the local Ebell clubhouse.

Hostess Duo In Pretty Party

Mrs. C. G. Dowds and Mrs. H. G. Wilson joined in hostess duties Thursday when they entertained at luncheon and bridge at the former's home, 2478 Riverside drive.

Seating their guests at small tables, they chose for centerpiece little mounds of fall fruits on mirror bases. Chrysanthemums were arranged through the rooms, and tallies were in the autumn tones.

Bridge took up the afternoon hours, with prizes at the close going to Mrs. James Anderson, high, and Mrs. Lynn Ostrander, second. Each received a piece of Franciscan pottery.

Guests at the pretty party were the Mesdames J. H. Criddle, K. H. Sutherland, William Rohrbacher, L. R. Wilson, E. J. McReynolds, Newell Moore, G. W. Leive James Anderson, Fred Newcom, Mark Lacy, Harry Westover, J. F. Burke, Louis Braasch, H. G. Huffman, Lynn Ostrander, Chester Hawks, Milo Tedstrom, Nan Dale, Felton Browning and Clarence Nisson.

U. D. C. MEETS WITH FOUR HOSTESSES

Assisted by Mrs. Helen Wells, Miss Percy Head, and Mrs. A. Bradford, Mrs. Ray Stedman entertained members of Emma Sanson chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy Thursday at her home on French street.

After a short business session, Mrs. Hewitt, daughter of Mrs. Clara Duggan, talked informally to the group about her recent trip into Mexico, Central America, and the southern part of the United States, showing pictures of the places she visited.

The program for the afternoon was featured by a review of a Carolina folk play, "Magnolia's Lamb," given by Mona Summers Smith, who also reviewed "Green Margin." Both were enjoyed immensely.

At the close of the day, the hostesses served pumpkin pie and whipped cream with coffee.

Exchange of gifts, it was announced, will be a feature of the Christmas party on December 10 at the Martin home on Chestnut street.

DOCTORS HAVE DINNER MEET

The Orange County Osteopathic society held a dinner meeting at the Green Cat cafe Thursday evening, with Dr. Edward T. Abbott of Los Angeles acting as guest speaker.

Following his presentation of developments in minor surgery, Dr. A. Tyler of Los Angeles spoke briefly.

Those attending the meeting were Dr. Ernest Gieger of Buena Park, Dr. W. W. Isley of Fullerton, Dr. Harold G. Carlin of Anaheim, Dr. John Helmecken, Dr. H. W. Leecing, Dr. Lawrence Young, Dr. R. W. Tibbets, Dr. Hester Olewiler, and Dr. Julia Hinrichs of Santa Ana, and Dr. Bernice Bennett of Huntington Beach.

MRS. RAPP HAS BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Howard Rapp was hostess to a little bridge club yesterday that started as a neighborhood organization several years ago when its members all lived on North Olive street.

The attractive new Rapp home on North Greenleaf street was decorated with several lovely bowls of colorful chrysanthemums, and the hostess served a dainty luncheon course before the afternoon's contract.

Mrs. Dan E. Maloney substituted at the club, and members present included Mrs. A. P. Trawick, Mrs. T. R. Trawick, Mrs. John McCarty, Mrs. Byron Curry, Mrs. Louis Sawyer of Whittier, Mrs. Foster Lamb of Whittier and Mrs. Howard Rapp.

CHORUS TO GIVE ABBEY PROGRAM

Methodist Singers Will Present Memorial to Mrs. Geo. Faures

The choir of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana will present the Musical Memory hour program at Melrose Abbey chapel Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

The program will be dedicated to the memory of Mrs. George E. Faures, who until her death, was an active member of the church and Sunday school. A memorial tribute will be offered by Dr. George A. Warner who will be assisted in the memorial service by Rev. Arthur T. Hobson of the First Methodist church of Orange, and Wray Andrew of Long Beach.

The choir of 35 voices will be under the direction of Halstead McCormac, with Christine Lambert at the console of the cathedral organ. Under the leadership of McCormac, this choir has become one of the outstanding choirs of the county.

Following the organ prelude, "Kamenoi Ostrow" (Rubinstein) by Christine Lambert, the choir will sing a group of numbers including, "Souls of the Righteous" (Noble), "Surely He Hath Born Our Grief" (Handel), "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord" (Mendelssohn-Bartholdy), "Open Our Eyes" (MacFarlane), "Lead Me Lord" (Wesley), "In The Dominion" (Handel), "O God, We Pray" (Arnsky), "Forever Worthy Is Thy Lamb" (Tschakowsky), "Nunc Dimittis" (Gregorian), and "Pax Dei" (Coombs).

Special numbers will be a soprano solo by Irma Rutter, singing "The Stranger of Galilee," a duet, "The City of Foursquare," by Alma Warner and Irma Rutter, and two quartet numbers by Irma Rutter, Laura Joiner, Gustav Koehler and Wallace LeGras, who will sing "Happy and Blest Are They" and "O Heart Subdued with Grieving." The Rev. Mr. Hobson will offer the invocation.

The public is invited to attend this service.

SUNDAY WILL BE MISSION DAY

This Sunday will be known as "Men and Missions" day at the Free Methodist church, Fruit and Mint streets, it was announced by the Rev. A. W. Archer, pastor.

The principal address of the morning service will be presented by the Rev. J. H. Scott who has traveled extensively in foreign mission fields.

A lecture on Palestine and the Jews will feature the evening service, with special attention given to modern conditions in Jerusalem.

TWO SERMONS TO GO ON AIR

Topics of the sermons to be delivered by the Rev. Frank E. Lindgren, pastor of the Calvary church of Santa Ana, tomorrow at 11 a. m. and at 7 p. m., are announced as follows: 11 a. m., "How the Unrighteous Are Made Righteous"; 7 p. m., "The Leprosy of Sin and What To Do With It."

Both services, to be held in the auditorium of the Ebell club at 625 French street, will be broadcast by means of direct wire from KVOE.

Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

JESUS TEMPTED BY THE DEVIL.—"Then was Jesus led up of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. And when the tempter came to him, he said, If Thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread. But he answered and said, It is written, man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Then the devil taketh him up into the holy city, and setteth him on a pinnacle of the temple. And saith unto him, If Thou be the Son of God, cast Thyself down: for it is written, He shall give His angels charge concerning Thee, and on their hands shall they bear Thee, lest Thou dash Thy foot against a stone. And Jesus answered and said, It is written, Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; and saith unto him, All these things will I give Thee, if Thou wilt fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan; for it is written, thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve."—Matthew 4: 1-11. Wife Failing to Live Up to Unwritten Laws of Matrimony Is Dishonorable

By MARY STODDARD

Many of my readers have, in their responses or communications, called attention to the predominant subject of letters asking for advice—thwarted love, of one kind or another.

Many of these letters about unhappy marriages and love affairs have a story of real suffering and heartache behind them. Yet often they tempt me to be very unfeeling in response. Witness this one:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am a married woman. I have a good husband, but I do not love him and never did. As for love, the one I loved was already married. He has always given me some attention before and after I was married. He is very much in love with me and I am with him. There are no children on either side. Please advise me what to do.

My Dear M. P.: You probably won't take my advice or you would have already followed it when I have given it in the past with regard to similar affairs.

You are a cheat. You are depriving a good man of his rightful matrimonial heritage—the love, loyalty and respect of the woman he honored with his name. To me your letter, and all others like it, are most distressing.

You don't know when you are well off. If you never did love your husband, why were you deceitful enough to marry him? The other woman's husband is equally as guilty. If he wanted to get a divorce he wouldn't ask you, me, or anyone else about it. He's making a fool out of you, and you are making a fool out of yourself and your husband, too.

Wake up! Turn your back upon such unstable sentimentality and be the woman God expected you to be. Spend your time, efforts and thoughts trying to live up to your marriage vows, and be worthy of a good husband, for heaven knows they do not grow on trees these days.

MARY STODDARD.

BOYS AND NEW CAR VANISH

Four high school boys and a new black sedan were missing today, police reported as they sent out teletype bulletins to northern points asking other departments to hold the youths. The car is valued at $850.

William J. Tway, 417 Linwood street, reported theft of the car from a parking place near the high school yesterday morning, and parents reported the boys missing a short time later.

Rev. Budlong to Resume Pulpit

"What next for our country and the church?" is the topic of the sermon with which the Rev. Julia N. Budlong resumes her own pulpit at the Unitarian church after a series of guest ministers and exchanges covering the last six weeks.

At the mid-week meeting on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., the pastor will recount her trip of investigation among the Mexican families which are not on county welfare.

These lessons concerning the life of Paul are most interesting and inspiring and this week's is no exception. It concerns the heroism of Christian faith, and shows that a Christian may be victorious amid great dangers. Paul's intention was to go to Rome. And though warned of dangers and imprisonment, he was not dissuaded. Wonder if he'd gone if he'd listened to friends?

Here's a great lesson for everyone. It's easy to get conflicting advice from friends. State your case to one, and if he thinks you want to do the thing you mention, he'll strongly advise you to do it. Another sees your doubts outstanding, so he advises care or abandonment of the scheme.

But to Paul, other things were more important than self. Had he turned back, he could have had the plaudits of the multitudes—for a day—then been forgotten. Yet he fought a good fight, finished his course—and lives today! It was Lincoln who said "I do the very best I can all the time, and I mean to keep on doing that until the end. If the end brings me out right, what men have said about me will not matter; if the end brings me out wrong, 10 angels swearing that I was right will do me no good."

LENSKI WILL BE CHURCH SOLOIST

Music on a violin more than 400 years old and a missionary thank offering program will feature tomorrow evening's regular service at St. Peter's Lutheran church, and will be in charge of the Ladies' Aid.

Vladimir Lenski of Costa Mesa will present the violin recital, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Gutzman. Lenski is teacher of music at the Anaheim Conservatory of Music and the Southern California University of Music in Los Angeles.

Spurgeon Sermon Topics Told

An "Old Rugged Cross Service" has been selected as the title of tomorrow morning's worship hour at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, with the Rev. C. M. Aker preaching on "The Sign of the Conqueror."

The evening will be "Good Neighbors Night," and the pastor will preach on "The Spirit of Good Neighbors."

Morning music will include a song, "The Spirit of God," sung by J. W. Nuckolls, and the evening will feature a xylophone solo by Stanley Slaback.

Two Evangelists At Church Sunday

In addition to the popular and dynamic evangelist, Adelaide Mills, who has been conducting revival services at the Bethel Tabernacle for the past two weeks, the church will have the Rev. John Pemberton as a guest speaker tomorrow, it was announced today by the Rev. D. W. and the Rev. Emma McLain, co-pastors.

The Rev. Mr. Pemberton will not preach at the general church services but will speak to the young people at 6:30 p. m.

Loyola Educator Succumbs in L. A.

Honest Poverty No Crime

ORANGE COUNTY officials show good sense by not jumping blindly into this so-called "hobo" blockade along with several other southern counties. Such a program—in the wrong hands—could be horribly abused.

Purpose of the blockade, of course, is to keep criminals, diseased persons, confirmed paupers and vagabonds out of Southern California. With this, The Journal is in sympathy. These people should be in the proper institutions in their own home states.

But the attempt on the part of some to stretch the blockade to bar decent men and women and their families—merely because they do not have a pocketful of money—is mercenary and un-American.

How many people would be here today if such a policy had been adopted 50 years ago?

This state was developed by the brain and brawn of pioneers—many of whom came here without a dime. They struggled west through rivers, plains and hostile Indians. Suppose they had been met at the border by a strong-arm squad and told:

"You can't come in. You're too poor. California is now reserved for well-to-do tourists."

This state today would have belonged to millionaires and Indians.

For those people who view honest poverty as a crime punishable by exclusion from California we reprint paragraph 1, section 2 of article IV of the Constitution of the United States:

The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

There is no more legal and humanitarian justification for preventing decent, but poor, people from entering California than there is for expelling those already here.

The President's Thanksgiving turkey will not have heart trouble, digestive disorders or neuritis, veterinarians say. That is not saying, however, that the President won't have a stomach ache when he finishes eating it.

A New Liquor Tax Grab

WITH the election over, the silly season is on again for those officials who managed to hold their jobs. It has been opened in California by a proposal to make all liquor drinkers pay a separate and special individual tax.

This nut idea is attributed to Chairman R. E. Collins of the state board of equalization. We hope he was misquoted.

Under the so-called Collins plan, every booze imbiber would have to buy a card—say for 25 or 50 cents—giving him permission to buy liquor.

The theory is that this would enable the bartenders to distinguish between minors, habitual drunks and ordinary run-of-the-bar drinkers. Maybe it would work in spots. But any half-wit could beat the system if he really wanted a drink.

The whole plan sounds to us like just another scheme to grab off more money and influence for the state board of equalization at the expense of thirsty citizens.

Let's grab the liquor tax on the man who sells it. Why dump a new load on the consumer just to give the state board of equalization more spending money?

The days when the traveling salesman fell asleep on the train and woke up in the next town are definitely over. With world-circling air service imminent, the day is practically here when the salesman who falls asleep on the plane will wake up on the next continent.

Too High Just the Same

THE TAX situation reminds us of the man who lost a foot in an automobile collision. "I don't mind it so much," he said. "The other car driver lost both of his."

United States taxes—federal, state and city for 1934-35—totaled approximately $9,650,000,000, according to figures compiled by the national industrial conference board. For Britain, for the same period, they were $4,347,000,000; for Germany, $4,674,000,000; for France, $2,566,000,000.

But here's the other side. This tax money collected in the U. S. A. amounted to 18 per cent of the national income. In Britain, the tax was 24.4 per cent; Germany, 22.7 per cent; France, 27.4 per cent.

Our taxes are so heavy they hurt. But think of poor Europe!

The sheriff's office at Bend, Ore., has been robbed by safecrackers. The sheriff now is waiting for the criminals to return to the scene of the crime.

Pedestrians Need Them

THERE is going to be human blood all over the pavement at Main and Third, and Main and Fifth streets one of these days unless the city does something to give pedestrians more protection from motorists.

The heavy foot traffic at both intersections is the scene every day of narrow squeaks as autoists come zooming down the state highway.

Those new crossing buttons don't do much good.

A sign in the middle of the boulevard—STOP WHEN PEDESTRIANS ARE IN CROSSING—is needed.

Fullerton has such signs on the state highway. Why not Santa Ana?

Mussolini's latest weapons are fire-throwing tanks. They need men like Mussolini in Hades.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Midnight is rarely so bewitching as in the wake of a downpour with scattered, silver pools dancing in the parabolas of street lights.

I was aroused to close a window by this miracle of the skies a while ago. The vast Park avenue canyon below seemed suddenly refreshed by the heavenly purge.

One misses a comforting interlude of introspection by not sitting at a window during a rain. Scottish highlanders gazing across the dismal moors believe Nature is weeping for the lost. A dour fantasy, but who knows? All of us are mere stumblers toward the eternal light.

I was thinking of a letter from an introspective friend in Los Angeles. He is troubled by the spiritual outlook of one of his friends. A gentleman whose life is largely consecrated to Christian service. A Bible student who is a non-believer. That death ends all.

My friends believe firmly in God. But perhaps there is logic in the lives of such as his doubting friend. One life, nothing to follow—Ergo! Deep sympathy for fellow falterers and a desire to lend a helping hand. Boys lost in the dark woods, keeping close together, whistling!

The pelt of rain chivvies winged fancies to flight. As the sudden boom of the noon-day canon at St. Mark's startles the pigeons into flurried frenzy. Poe always got out his pad and pencil and sat by a window when it came on to rain. He wrote Annabelle Lee during a drenching deluge while forks of lightning illuminated his candleless niche. And hunger gnawed his vitals.

Out of a side street loomed one of those bedraggled jaspers of joy—a late wayfarer weaving home for his hour or so of oblivion before the terrific headache. His legs suggest those gutta-percha wobbles that staggered Leon Errol to fame. He sways on the curb, glancing up and down and comically snapping his fingers with lightness. If he, without the impetus of liquor, found himself in such a blur of physical and mental befuddlement, he would give all to be normal again.

Midnight and Rain! That's the name of a variety that toured the continental and English music halls. Midnight had a Senegalese. Rain a blonde sprite with lightness of a puff ball. Clad in a leopard skin, midnight twirled her in a mad dervish that wound up in a terrifying fling the width of the stage. It seemed incredible she could arise after such a fall to bow kisses and bow. In American vaudeville was the team of Tempest and Sunshine—dainty singers and dancers. An act that seldom tired. Most thought their sisters but they were not. Tempest lives only a few blocks away from my apartment. I see her once in a while in the evening walking her dog—retaining much of the charm that captured the gallery gods of another day. Marion Sunshine soloed in vaudeville awhile, then vanished. She introduced that wailing Cuban peanut song to American audiences a few years ago.

One of the Brontës—Emily as I remember—loved to slosh through the bogs of her desolate heath when the skies rolled up raggedy black silhouettes for those long Scottish drizzles. There are many rain-minded in cities, too. Dickens was. Dr. John Erdmann, the surgeon, likes to don mackintosh and trudge in a heavy shower. Dr. John Finley is a rain walker as was the late Andrew Carnegie, whose bobbing umbrella was familiar on the reservoir's gravel path. Katharine Cornell is a rainist, too, as is Somerset Maugham whose most fascinating fable was inspired by the incessant fall in far off Tahiti.

Few who live on seacoasts where mistral is incessant—such as Havre and Cherbourg—are happy elsewhere. Powder gray weather has for some as much tug as sunshine. I know a little Cockney who has been a Cook's man at Plymouth 15 years. His obliging ways caused Victor Shretzinger, the movie director, to find him a better post in Hollywood. Dr. he stayed only three weeks. "Too much blinlin' sunshine," he explained. A modern Kasper Hauser babbling toward the light!

So falls the rain and a columnist's thoughts. Thoughts that dart out lizard-like in warm conscious flashes. Thoughts that spring tiger-like and sink away in shadowy despair. Thoughts that drip, drip, drip, sparkle awhile and melt away. Thoughts that wash windows of hope, thoughts that spin a web of wonder you leave us atremble at the breaking of another dawn!

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — In all the speculation about what the nation is going to do next, one important question has been overlooked.

What's to become of Alf M. Landon?

His term as governor of Kansas expires shortly. Will he go back to the oil business? Will he settle down on the farm which he acquired recently near Topeka? Will he continue in politics?

Probably Alf himself cannot answer this question. But the truth is that the Roosevelt landslide which buried a presidential candidate also threw a money-wrench into the prospects of a first-class senator.

Landon's personal ambition was to represent Kansas in the United States senate. Probably he would have made a very good senator.

Now, however, his prestige is dampened. Furthermore, a lot of other Kansas Republicans have their eyes on the senate seat that will be open when the term of Democratic Senator McGill expires in 1938. Among them are Henry J. Allen, ex-governor and senator; John D. M. Hamilton, Landon's campaign manager, and Clyde Reed, ex-governor.

Of these, the only one not marked by the scars of the recent malapropos by Clyde Reed, one of the most progressive governors Kansas ever had. During the late unpleasantness he was careful to stand on the sidelines, said nothing against Landon, nothing for him. He is a man worth watching.

Hamilton is going to reach for a lot of things, but will not get far. As for Landon, only time will tell. He is a good man, sent up to the firing-line too raw. He may come back. But it is more likely that the memory of that luscious victory cake, which Mrs. Landon waited too long to eat, will haunt him the rest of his life.

TELEVISION

Twenty years ago, before television ever was heard of, George Henry Payne wrote a one-act play about television.

Now, as a member of the federal communications commission, Payne chuckles about his youthful fantasy.

Of course I didn't call it television. The word wasn't heard of. I called it "The Eye on the Wire" or something of that sort. The play showed a young inventor using this instrument to communicate by sight with his sweetheart. "But when he made the connection, and saw into her boudoir, he found another man there with her! So in a fit of wrath and jealousy, he smashed the invention, and delayed television for 20 years."

That brings us up to the present. At present Payne and his fellow commissioners are engaged in watching the commercial growth of television—no longer a fantasy.

WHEAT SURPLUS

AAA officials frankly are worried about the probably heavy wheat surplus next year. Present high prices are inducing farmers to plant a greater acreage, and the yield, with present favorable moisture conditions, should be high.

There is a possibility, officials calculate, that U. S. farmers will produce as much as a billion bushels of wheat next year, which would bring prices tumbling to perhaps 50 cents a bushel.

Since the old AAA has been thrown out of the window by the supreme court, no direct control is possible. Hence, officials are adopting two indirect methods to head off the surplus.

One is exhortation. Farmers are being warned that if they plant too widely, they will not continue to enjoy high prices.

The other is inducement through benefits. Though it is not yet announced, AAA plans to shape the present AAA program so as to pump life into flax production in an effort to hold down wheat production.

Flax is grown in the same states as spring wheat. If attractive benefits in the soil conservation program are held out, officials hope that farmers will turn from planting wheat which is not wanted to planting flax which is wanted.

Present U. S. flax crop is far short of domestic requirements. This year's harvest is only six million bushels, while more than 25 million bushels will be required. This means importing 19 or 20 million bushels.

AAA is not so much worried about importations of flax, but is definitely worried about a surplus of wheat.

REPUBLICAN LEADER

G. O. P. insiders credit Senator Arthur Vandenberg with secret ambitions to replace Oregon's veteran Charley McNary as Republican leader of the senate.

McNary is one of the most astute politicians in the country, has been frequently consulted by the President on parliamentary tactics. He kept silent regarding Governor Landon, confined himself entirely to his own re-election drive. As a result, although Oregon went heavily Democratic, McNary came back to the senate.

The politicians report that Vandenberg, who has had secret leadership ambitions for years, is urging the view that McNary, because of his soft-pedaling on Roosevelt, should be supplanted as party manager. But the likelihood of the moon-faced Michigander achieving this ambition is remote.

First, Vandenberg personally is none too popular with his colleagues. Second, during his own re-election campaign in 1934 Vandenberg pussy-footed on the New Deal.

Another factor operating against Vandenberg was the elimination of a number of ultra-partisan Republican senators who might have supported him against McNary. Few of the 17 Republicans who will sit in the next senate are of the caliber to raise any revolt against the popular and extremely able McNary.

SANCTUARY OF RARE BIRDS

(Alameda Times-Star)
Midway island, depot of the Pan-American clipper ships, between Hawaii and the Philippines, is a sanctuary for birds and show place for its kind of wild life, according to reports from passengers who have visited that stopping place. Years ago, when President Theodore Roosevelt saved the birds from extinction, threw protection around them. It is hoped now that this island will be visited by thousands of people, the birds there will be permitted to live and give pleasure to visitors. That island can be a grand show place and an asset to the transport companies.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Schools for All the People

AMERICAN Education Week again directs attention of all the people to our most significant social enterprise. Rather peculiar that we must have special invitation to review what we are doing. But education is so vital a part of American life that we are inclined to take it for granted, somewhat like the air we breathe and the sunlight which spills its life and beauty around us. We forget sometimes that education is not such a secure blessing that we may safely count on it remaining with us unimpaired. The great battle for free public education crossed the attention of the American people a hundred years ago. For two generations the struggle waged. And not yet have the final victories been won. Nor have the opponents of this vast movement ceased their attacks.

Public education for all the children is a distinctly American contribution to world betterment.

Always in history the right to the more abundant life was the privilege of the few, hedged about with restrictions which carefully barred the many. America has dumped many startling ideas and movements into the lap of the world. But nothing has been quite so startling as the astounding conviction that there must be an interrupted ladder from bottom to top of the education system. This country is definitely committed to the program of leaving the way open for every person to reach the mental stature to which his ability and ambition may aspire.

The progress of education in America has been so astonishing that we are prone to consider the job very well done. The World war disturbed this view. For the first time millions of young men, a complete cross-section of our social life, were brought under observation. An alarming number of them were found to be illiterate, unable to read a newspaper or to write a letter to the folks back home.

Out of the needs which the war disclosed Education Week came into being, sponsored by the American Legion and later, by the National Education association and the United States office of education. For 16 years the needs of public education, its achievement and possibilities have been spread before the people, during this week in November.

The theme is "The Schools at Work." We need renewed faith in democratic institutions. We must fortify ourselves against the carping criticisms all too often aimed at the schools. We must feel the great pulse of education, and see for ourselves how it undergirds the very foundations of American life. Let parents take the occasion to visit the schools, meet the teachers and see how effective for social and civic ends are these great laboratories of democracy.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town
With C. F. (Skinny) SKRIVEN

There is a broader smile on the physiognomy of the realtor. Sales are frequent. Orange, walnut and bean ranches are changing ownerships. Capital is seeking investment in not only what it considers safe but profitable. Orange county land has long been considered an attractive sanctuary for investment. Before the depression well selected and highly developed orange ranches sold as high as $6000 per acre. Then came the fall. Now the pendulum is swinging back to better prices, for the ready for public sale oranges and walnuts and beans are bringing higher returns.

Escaping ammonia recalled to one of the boys who had been "over there" an incident in which about eight American soldiers lost their lives when a tank exploded. It isn't a very agreeable odor, and one that cannot be resisted for any length of time.

Thanks to the unknown but reasonably truthful author of the poetic compliment which drifted in yesterday by reliable messenger from a reliable institution. The contribution, it seems to me, comes from one who is well acquainted with my habits, but so long as my motive is not misunderstood I have nothing to fear.

When I look at those majorities in both the senate and the house I want to congratulate Landon on his defeat.

Is there any other way besides publicity to get a safety campaign over? That method isn't proving very effective, although the press is doing its very best to instill into the minds of the drivers the thought and duty of careful operation. Orange county has already exceeded the 1935 death list.

E. B. Darnell has caused to be deposited on my desk a paraphrased copy of the 23rd Psalm. I like the original the best. The modern production more appropriately fits present conditions, but there is a lot more comfort in the songs of David. And I have an old-fashioned hunch that the human race would be much happier if the precepts of the Psalms were adopted as the rule of faith and practice.

Election is over but the results are still a subject for comment, especially if it has anything to do with prospective courthouse changes. Every day brings out a flood of rumors, which are as promptly denied as they are made until those elected to office make the decisions. They will have to do so anyway, and I'm not a candidate, so why should I worry. All I know is that everybody who wants an office won't get it.

All evidence of an electric line on North Main street is being removed. Pacific Electric employees are taking down the poles which carry the wires which carried the power to drive cars to Orange. The first street railway line that I remember running to Orange was the little engine which chugged its way back and forth while the boys played teeter-totter, and the engineer yelled like the dickens for them to "cut it out." Then the electric passenger cars, and then no cars at all.
